

Congress Convenes Today; Filibuster Fight Shapes Up; Senate GOP Elects Taft Leader

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Trygve Lie made public last night a blast at the U. S. State Department for what he called its failure and delay in providing him evidence he could use to oust disloyal Americans from the U. N.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. McGranery added a new and urgent aspect to the bitter wrangle over charges of subversion in the U. N.

McGranery ordered a federal grand jury in New York to make another and broader investigation immediately into charges that disloyal Americans had infiltrated the U. N.

The charge of infiltration was raised on Dec. 2 by another grand jury whose life expired last month.

Lie's statement was sent to the State Department and U. S. Senate investigators Dec. 23 but not released until last night.

A U. S. mission press officer said that the State Department advised him it would have no comment on publication of the statement.

Lie's statement, prepared by Byron Price, U. N. assistant secretary general in charge of personnel and U. S. wartime censor, made these points:

One—Since 1948, the U. N. has asked the State Department for information on about 2,000 Americans; the U. N. has received adverse comment on 24 of them.

Two—Lie was told by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in 1946 that the U. S. government did not wish to give official support or clearance to Americans seeking jobs or working at the U. N.

Three—Lie and his assistants asked the U. S. informally on many occasions in 1946 and 1947 for information regarding Americans in the U. N.

Four—An initial list of 377 American employees was submitted for passport information to the U. S. mission to the U. N. on Aug. 16, 1948. This list contained the names of 18 later questioned by a Senate subcommittee, including 14 who refused to answer on the grounds of self-incrimination. In April and May, 1950, the U. S. provided adverse comment on a "small number" of the 377.

Five—Lie has flatly and often told U. S. officials he wanted no Americans working at the U. N. against whom there was substantial evidence of subversive activity.

Six—There have been cases of "long delay" in getting replies from the State Department on names submitted to it.

Seven—In four cases, the State Department has "completely withdrawn" the adverse comments it first had made.

Eight—Lie asked for but was denied a copy of a recent New York grand jury hearing. The grand jury on Dec. 2 issued a presentment which the statement said "tended to cast discredit upon the entire staff" of the U. N., where more than 2,000 Americans are employed.

Nine—Lie intends to set up a special panel and place before it "eight or nine cases in which adverse comments in varying degrees have been received from the United States mission" to the U. N.

Ten—Lie has "no reliable cause for proceeding" on the others of the 11 listed by State Department yesterday "since he either is completely without evidence or is in possession of evidence which substantially refutes the correctness of the State Department's evaluation."

In recent weeks, the U. N. has discharged or terminated jobs of 31 American employees.

Enemy Losses Top U.S. Total

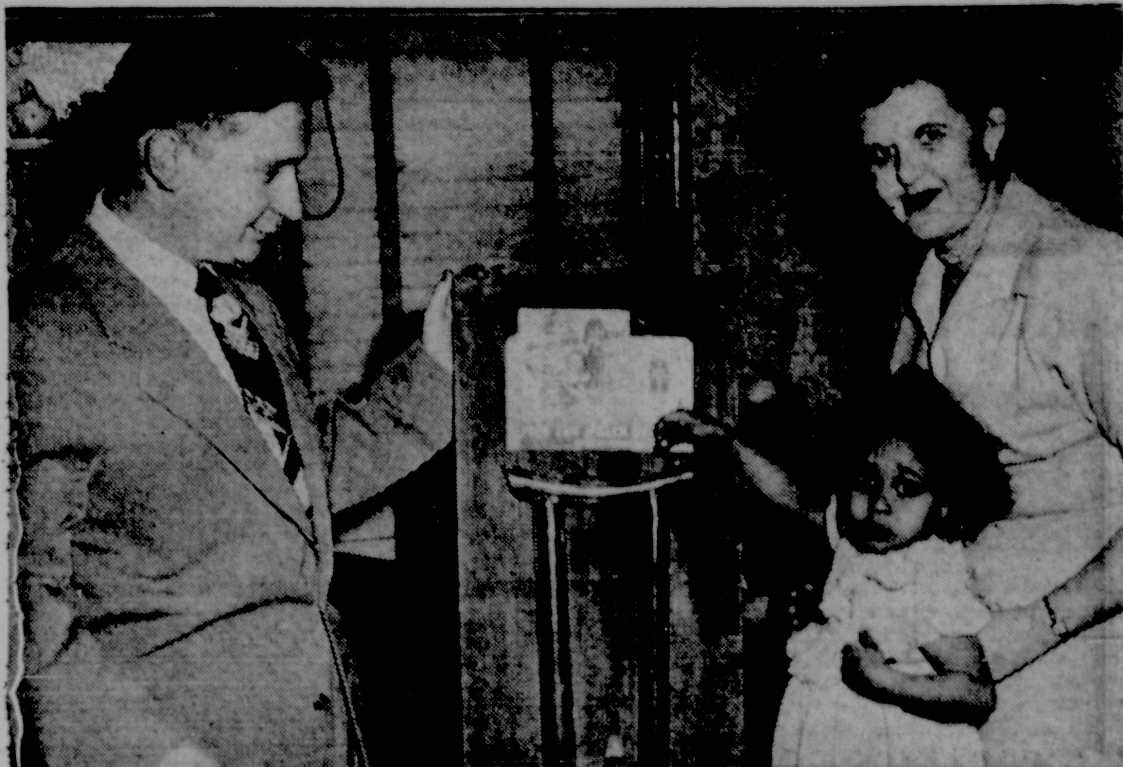

Washington (AP)—The Communists have suffered 10 times as many casualties as the United States in Korean fighting, the Defense Department said yesterday in a year-end summary.

The department placed the toll of enemy casualties inflicted by United Nations troops at 1,299,561 compared with 126,845 U. S. killed, wounded, missing and captured. The Communist casualties were corrected to Dec. 1, the U. S. figures to Dec. 26.

The best estimate of total U. N. casualties comes from a Dec. 13 survey, which indicated 364,370 U. N. troops had been killed, wounded, missing or captured up to that date. The same survey estimated 1,764,940 for Communist casualties, including 349,000 wiped out by plagues and illnesses.

U. S. airplane losses apparently have outnumbered those of the enemy 2 to 1. Despite this, the Air Force reported the F86 Sabre jets are maintaining a 9 to 1 combat ratio over the Russian-built MIG15—shooting down nine MIGs for every F86 lost.

The high American air losses were explained by the fact that U. S. air units are continually bombing enemy strongholds heavily defended by anti-aircraft guns and sometimes by fighter planes.

OPENING THE 1953 MARCH OF DIMES drive for Monroe county last night at her Harris St. home in East Stroudsburg was tiny three and one-half year old San Miah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miah. San is a polio victim whose left leg is encased in a brace designed to make it possible for her to walk again. She is shown here with Charles Topfer, owner of Topfer Plastics Inc. who designed and built the hollow, plastic crutch (center) which will be used as a "traveling bank" by the county March of Dimes unit and Mrs. Olaf Pedersen, State adviser for the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation. Topfer donated the plastic crutch to the March of Dimes drive. Other photos on Page 5. (Daily Record Photo)

Little Polio Victim Launches Dimes Drive By Dropping Coins Into Symbolic Crutch

Monroe County's part in the 1953 March of Dimes was officially opened last night by a tiny, three-and-one-half-year old girl named San on Harris St., in East Stroudsburg.

San had been chosen by county polio drive officials and Mrs. Olaf Pedersen to open the drive at her home.

As her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Beville, helped her up on the small, white stool, San was uncertain about standing "alone."

Her delicately nervous hands swept back to her grandmother's skirt, clinging for an instant until Mrs. Pedersen stepped forward to stand behind her while she dropped a series of coins in the plastic "crutch" which will serve as Monroe County's traveling polio bank during the month-long March of Dimes.

For San, the past two and one-half years led over a long and tortuous road—a road which began in August, 1949, in the middle of an epidemic of polio.

San, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miah, had a "terrible fever," her grandmother recalls. Relatives contacted Dr. Theodore Hsu, local physician, who treated her for two days.

Dr. Hsu recommended San be taken to the hospital for treatment. He then contacted a Bethlehem physician and the tiny girl was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem—the nearest hospital equipped to handle polio patients.

San entered St. Luke's on August 11, 1949. She remained in the hospital until October of that year.

During that time she received three blood transfusions.

Doctors—trying to do everything within their power to make sure San would be able to walk again—operated on her damaged left knee during her first month in the hospital.

During the months which followed San's hospitalization, the brace has been changed three times.

Twice each year, San visits the Crippled Children's Clinic in Stroudsburg where an examination helps to indicate what treatment, if any, will be necessary in the future.

At home, San has learned to adjust herself to her "disability" to a remarkable degree, with the help of Mrs. Beville, her parents and her eight-year-old sister, Tarr, wide-eyed San has been able to encompass each corner of her tiny world in her grasp and stride.

San does not stand alone in her fight against the crippling aftermath of polio.

Her story is one of thousands throughout the nation—one of many in Monroe County.

The miracle of her day—and of her winning battle—is that such a fight may even be attempted. That any small child—no matter how much or little

Rosenbergs' Fate Left To White House

New York, (AP)—The sentencing judge yesterday refused to spare the Rosenberg husband-wife atom spy team and their lives now rest in White House hands.

"I still feel that their crime was worse than murder," said Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman as he stood solemnly and solidly behind the death sentence he imposed on the pair nearly 21 months ago. He called them martyrs by choice.

Julius Rosenberg, 34, and his tiny, 5-foot wife Ethel, 37, are scheduled to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison within two weeks—probably the night of Jan. 15.

Judge Kaufman said the pair chose "martyrdom and to keep their lips sealed," implying they could save their lives any time they admit their guilt and name the others involved with them in a wartime Soviet spy ring.

They have appealed their convictions through every available court including the U. S. Supreme Court.

Their last recourse now is the White House. Defense Attorney Emanuel H. Bloch said he will try to get the execution delayed while he appeals to the President. Judge Kaufman has promised him all the time he needs.

President Truman might decide the fate of the Rosenbergs. Or, with the execution delayed, he might leave the decision to President-elect Eisenhower, who takes office Jan. 20.

A jury on March 29, 1951, convicted the Rosenbergs of conspiring to pass A-bomb secrets to the Russians in a wartime treason plot. The couple has always denied the charge.

Judge Kaufman on April 15, 1951, doomed them to death, the first treason sentence of its kind ever handed down in a civilian court. Radar expert Morton Sobell, 35, was convicted with them. But Judge Kaufman held his guilt less grievous and he now is serving 30 years in prison.

The Rosenbergs, American-born parents of two small sons, have been in the Sing Sing death house since the Spring of 1951.

Cold Weather Sweeps Korea

Seoul, (AP)—Allied defenders fighting in 10 degree below zero weather—coldest of the Korean winter—drove back about 175 Chinese Reds who attacked the highest peak on Sniper Ridge in pre-dawn darkness today.

To the West, Chinese temporarily seized one of two outposts attacked in the Kelly Hill sector on the Western Front but were driven off by Allied big guns. U. N. troops later reoccupied the position without opposition.

An Eighth Army staff officer said Allied ground forces inflicted 9,429 casualties on the Reds in December, including 5,763 killed, 3,632 wounded and 34 captured.

Couple Accused

Indiana, Pa.—Accusing a young couple of starving two baby daughters, Indiana County officials yesterday charged Mr. and Mrs. Edward Valuchuk with wilful neglect.

Peilly Agrees To Comply With Spengler's Request For Evidence Of Gambling Machines

Bangor—Developments popped forth with firecracker precision yesterday in the case of the Northampton County "gambling machine dictatorship" launched by assembly-elect Clair Peilly.

In rapid-fire order, Peilly—a Bangor laundry owner who will take his seat as an assemblyman on Tuesday, Jan. 6—was "requested to appear" in the office of Northampton County District Attorney Elias Spengler in Easton "with evidence there are coin devices operating in the county (and) paying off."

In response to the letter he received from Spengler which contained the request for his appearance on Wednesday, Jan. 7, Peilly replied:

"I can't be there next Wednesday. Official business calls me to Harrisburg."

Peilly said he would confer with Spengler at the latter's office today, instead.

"But I'm sure the meeting will be of no avail," Peilly continued in agreeing to comply with the request.

The assemblyman-elect said he had had numerous calls during the "past four days" telling him "the trucks were taking console machines out of the various clubs and hotels in Northampton County."

Ike Plans No Commitments To Churchill

Washington (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said yesterday President-elect Eisenhower has assured four Republican senators he would make no commitments in his forthcoming talk with Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain.

"He said we didn't have to worry about any commitments, not only to Churchill but to other foreign leaders," Bridges told a reporter.

Two other senators who participated in a meeting with Eisenhower Tuesday in New York—Young (R-ND) and Saltonstall (R-Mass)—said the general had assured them his conference with Churchill would be "purely social."

Young said he regarded Eisenhower's words as an indication that the Eisenhower-Churchill conference would not concern any matters involving relations of the United States and Great Britain "similar to those that came out of past conferences between Churchill and President Roosevelt."

UMT Backers Pleased With Ike's Views

New York (AP)—A leading advocate of universal military training conferred with President-elect Eisenhower yesterday and said afterward "we both want to achieve the same thing—the solution of the problem."

Dr. Karl T. Compton added, that "It is one of those difficult problems to which a solution has yet to be found."

Compton is acting chairman of the National Security Training Commission, which has recommended that UMT be put into effect at once.

He told newsmen there was "no conflict" between the general's views and the commission recommendation, but that he did not know what actual decision Eisenhower would make regarding the recommendation.

Eisenhower has said previously that he could not see how UMT could go hand in hand with the selective service draft system now in effect. The selective service act expires in 1955.

Under UMT young men would be called up by age groups so that eventually all able-bodied men would have had military training.

Under selective service, men are classified on such points as age, able-bodiedness and dependents and chosen by lot.

FBI Recaptured Wanted Fugitive

Phoenix, Ariz., (AP)—The convicted head of a Southwestern auto theft ring, who became one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives when he broke bond 13 months ago, has been captured.

Hardon Collins Kemper, 50, surrendered to FBI agents without resistance Thursday night. Officers arrested him in his Glendale, Ariz., home, where he has lived with his two sons, 17 and 11. Using an assumed name, Kemper had worked as a $100-a-week auto mechanic.

Four Drown

Clarksburg, W. Va., (AP)—Leonard Jeffries, 33-year-old West Virginian, still weak from surgery, drowned in nearby Hinkle Lake yesterday along with three terrified children he was trying to save from the icy waters.

These machines, Peilly declared, were under "one-man rule" which meant, he said, that no club could install a machine through any other source than the "dictatorship."

In a clarification of his original statement the following day, Peilly declared himself in favor of legalizing gambling in Pennsylvania, stating also that he would take steps to initiate legislation to that effect upon his arrival in Harrisburg.

Commenting on the alleged removal of the slot machines from the clubs and hotels by "trucks," Peilly said:

"Only a bloodhound could track down the console machines today."

Foes Of Filibuster Renew Efforts For Change In Rules

Washington (AP)—Senate and House members picked party leaders for the new Congress yesterday—Robert A. Taft among them—and senators squared off for an opening day scrap today over the old, touchy filibuster issue.

Senate Republicans thought they had headed off for the time being a row over the filibuster rule.

But a bi-partisan band of some 20 anti-filibuster senators decided to make the fight today, futile though it seemed likely to be.

In two separate party conferences, GOP senators did this:

One—Selected Taft as their floor leader for the 83rd Congress. Thus the man who was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief opponent for the Republican presidential nomination will be in command of efforts to put Eisenhower's legislative program through the Senate.

Two—Voted down the idea that the Senate must adopt its rules—including the one on filibusters—all over again at the opening of a new session. That was a blow to senators who want to change the rules right away, with the purpose of throttling filibusters and pushing through such civil right proposals as a fair employment practices commission.

Probably that action was enough to doom to defeat any attempt to alter the filibuster arrangements.

Even so, the anti-filibuster bloc agreed to push ahead with their drive, after new senators are sworn in and other organization business is out of the way tomorrow afternoon.

The strategy was for Sen. Anderson (D-NM) to propose that the Senate consider adoption of rules to govern its operations for the 83rd Senate in accordance with a provision in the Constitution that "each house may determine the rules of its proceedings."

If that maneuver succeeds, Sen. Ives (R-NY) is to move that the Senate change the present rule which now requires a vote of two-thirds of the Senate 64 of the 96 members, to choke off a filibuster.

The idea is to cut the 64 down to 49—after debate has gone on for two weeks.

Ives himself told reporters: "I don't think our prospects are rosy. But this is something we must do. We must keep everlastingly at it. I don't think any of us are deluded about the immediate result."

While the fight may get under way today, Ives and others said they would be willing to hold off a decision until Monday or later.

It was mere formality when Democrats and Republicans in both House and Senate named their leaders for the legislative labors ahead.

For Senate Democrats, it will be Sen. Lyndon Johnson, 44-year-old Texan, as floor leader—youngest man ever to hold the post, his aides said. In the House, it will be Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts as speaker, and former Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas as Democratic floor leader.

For Senate Republicans, it will be Sen. Charles McNamara, 44-year-old Texan, as floor leader—youngest man ever to hold the post, his aides said. In the House, it will be Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts as speaker, and former Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas as Democratic floor leader.

Boy Beaten By Mother Grets His New 'Mama'

Vernon, Tex., (AP)—Young Tommie Yates has a new mother—a "mama" who holds out her arms for a great big hug.

Tommie's real mother is in the Texas State Prison for Women. She admitted she beat the 4-year-old boy on Christmas Eve a year ago in Vernon.

The little boy with the big gray eyes lay semi-conscious for days in a Dallas hospital, underwent brain surgery and slowly took new hold on his young life. His right side still is partially paralyzed, and he can't speak too many words clearly—but he tries.

He's a two-gun 5-year-old cowboy now who doesn't mind the braces on his right leg—they're good for that extra shove to get going. Yesterday, he walked into the office of District Judge Jess Owens. When he saw the motherly woman sitting there, he cried "mama" and stumbled toward her.

Hsi new "mama" is Mrs. J. H. Trussell of Hale Center, Tex. She's been visiting Tommie since September when he was brought to the county's Sunshine Home to live.

Bus Riders To Feel Pinch Of Strike Monday

New York (AP)—The biggest bus strike in New York's history warmed up yesterday, but its punch still was delayed by the New Year's holiday atmosphere.

Hitch-hikers appeared in Manhattan. Some subways began to feel added pressure. Car pools in remembrance of the wartime gasoline shortages came alive again.

And everywhere, taxis swarmed like bees where once the buses rumbled.

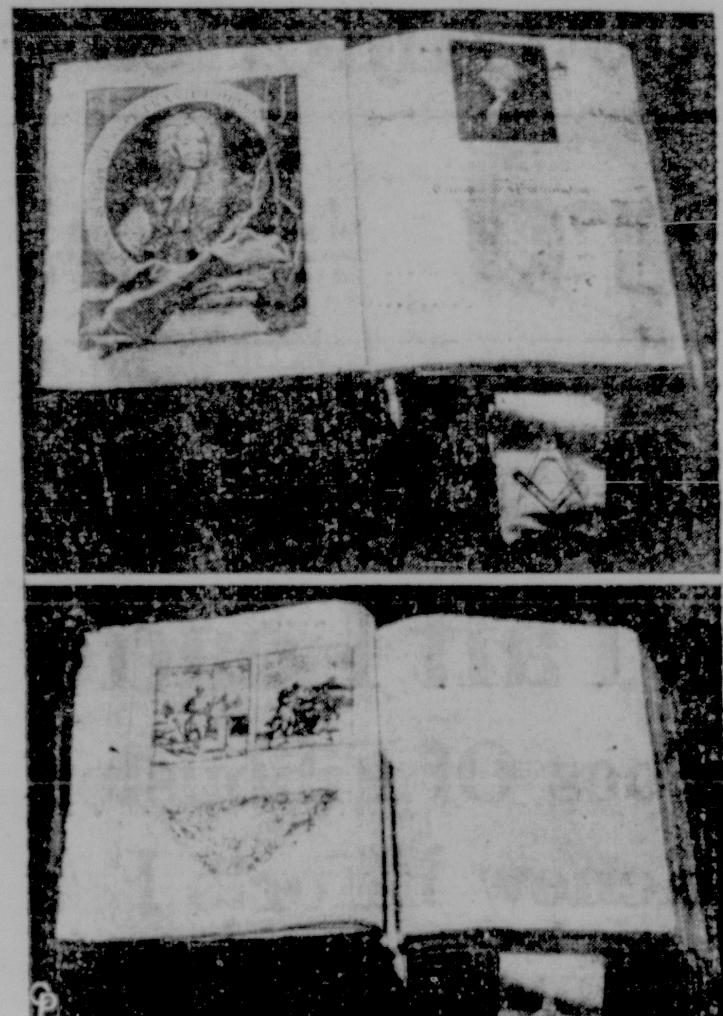

Nevertheless, the all-out effect of the strike of 8,000 CIO Transport Workers against eight private bus lines in Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens was not expected before Monday.

Government offices and many business firms were closed yesterday so their employees could enjoy the long holiday weekend. So were schools.

The city ordered school hours staggered beginning Monday to keep an estimated 150,000 older students off the subways during the morning and evening rush hours.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER will take the oath of office as President of the United States on Jan. 20 on the same bible George Washington used when he was sworn in as the nation's first President. The first page of the historic bible is an artistic steel engraving portrait of King George II. The other page, which was inserted, displays a portrait of Washington and the words: "On this sacred volume, on the 30th day of April, A.D. 1789, in the City of New York, was administered to George Washington, the first President of the United States of America, the oath to support the constitution of the United States." When Washington took the oath he rested his right hand on Genesis XLIX, and L, the two pages which are shown below.

East Stroudsburg Church To Begin New Year With Celebration Of Communion

In the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, the first worship service of the New Year will take the form of a covenant Communion. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the 11 a. m. service and the members attending the service will unite in an all Methodist accent for the coming program. The pastor, Rev. Harold C. Eaton, announces that the doors of the church will be open to receive new members. The music will be provided by the altar choir and the chapel choir.

Young People Hold Party

Twenty-five young people of St. John's Lutheran Church enjoyed a post-Christmas party at the home of Miss Nancy Feller, 1098 W. Main St., on Tuesday night. The young folks are members of the Lutheran League of St. John's. The meeting was held in the rumpus room of the Feller residence. A Christmas tree and other Christmas decorations were prominently displayed.

A short devotional and business meeting preceded the party. Letters of thanks were read from the superintendents of the Lutheran Orphans Home at Germantown, the one at Topton and the Good Shepherd Home at Allentown, for the many toys and books which were sent by the Lutheran League at the Christmas season.

It was decided to pack the used clothing for overseas relief in Europe and Korea on Wednesday night, Jan. 14, following a covered dish meeting of the league. The members also voted a contribution of five dollars towards the salary of the native pastor at Uppuluru, India, St. John's parish abroad.

Communion Service To Be Broadcast

The morning service of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church will be broadcast over radio station WVPO at 11 a. m. Sunday. It will be the January Communion service of the church and will be arranged so that shut-ins and sick folks can participate in the service. They should provide themselves with grape juice and small squares of bread, which will be consecrated at the proper moment by the pastor's prayer over the radio. Rev. Roger Stinson has arranged a series of meditations on the "Light Which Jesus Brings Us," which will be given over the radio as the congregation communes. The choir will sing the anthem "The Sanctus from the St. Cecilia Mass" and verses of favorite hymns while the congregation is changing groups at the communion rail in the church. It is hoped that this communion service will reach many who have not been able to go to their own church. All who believe in Jesus Christ are welcome to share in this communion service and feel the spiritual presence of the Christ with them as they partake of the symbols of the love and sacrifice of Christ.

At the vesper service at 7:30 p. m., the pastor will preach on the important relation of "Faith and History."

Missionary To Speak

Poccano Lake—A returned missionary will speak Sunday at 7:15 p. m. in the Pilgrim Holiness Church here.

Mrs. Leonard Lettzel, the missionary, has spent six years in Dutch Guiana, South America, and with the Indians and Indian Negroes. Frequently she was the first white woman seen by these primitive heathen people.

Mrs. Lettzel will leave again for South America in April. Permanent mission stations are now established and more are contemplated. The Sunday School addition to the local church is nearing completion and will be dedicated at services planned for February. The new building is so arranged that it will be used in regular services, doubling the seating capacity of the church, according to Rev. John A. Gangware, pastor.

Marston Rites Conducted Here

Graveside services for Mrs. Mabel D. Marston, 78, of Worcester, N. Y., were conducted at Stroudsburg Cemetery at 1:30 p. m. yesterday. Rev. Thomas Shoemith, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, officiated. Arrangements were in charge of Lanterman funeral home.

Pastor Plans New Series Of Sermons

Rev. Claude L. Hellenman, minister of the Canadensis Methodist Church, has announced a new series of sermons to begin Sunday morning under the heading, "The Search For God." These sermons will deal with the questions most people ask concerning God and His relationship to men.

The topics are nine in number and are as follows: Can We Be Certain Of God, What Is God Like?, The Love Of God, The Peace Of God, The Life Of God, The Revelation Of God, The Providence Of God, The Kingdom Of God, and The Way To God. These sermons are in line with the emphasis being around the world in Methodist Churches on the great teachings of the Bible concerning God and Creator and Sustainer of mankind, and are designed to lead up to the affirmations of Palm Sunday and Easter.

The topics at 8 p. m. each Sunday will be evangelistic in nature and deal with man's need of God and the necessity of surrendering to God's will and purpose. The entire program is part of the newly arranged services in the renovated church and new Sunday School building which has just been erected. The Chancel Choir will sing at each morning service and the Young Women's Senior Choir will bring special musical numbers in the evening.

Parking Ban Suspended On Lackawanna Ave.

Pastor W. F. Wender said last night after conferring with East Stroudsburg Borough officials of the Street and Road Committee that there would be no restriction of parking on Sunday, Jan. 4 on Lackawanna Ave. New signs have been erected forbidding parking on the east side of Lackawanna Ave. This order however will not be effective tomorrow.

The matter is to be reviewed by the Borough Council and the original order reconsidered. Revision of the order will make it possible for members of Grace Lutheran Church and the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church to find ample parking facilities near the respective parishes. Pastor Wender expressed gratitude to the borough officials for their reconsideration of the matter. A definite decision will be announced in the near future pertinent to permanent parking regulations on Lackawanna Ave.

New Year's Theme Topic For Sermon

The New Year's theme will be observed at the morning worship service of the First Presbyterian Church in Stroudsburg. The sermon and the hymns especially will be woven around that theme.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, will preach on "The Land Ahead," taking his text from the 11th chapter of Deuteronomy.

During the morning worship service the Sacrament of Infant Baptism will be administered to Kathy Jean Lindsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lindsey; Francis John Narkavich Jr., Patricia Narkavich, and Katherine Narkavich, children of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Narkavich; and to George Wesley Wakefield, IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wesley Wakefield, III.

At the service at 7:30 p. m., Mr. Campbell will speak on the 84th Psalm, choosing as his subject "Wayfarers of the Kingdom." Herbert Bellaires will lead the congregation in an informal hymn singing. The young people of the church will meet at 6:15. Sanctuary flowers will be given by the Women's Auxiliary.

Rev. Wunder Baptizes Baby

Robert Charles Boehmer II, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Boehmer of Rising Sun, Md., was received into the baptized membership of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, East Stroudsburg, on New Year's Eve by the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. The baptismal rite was administered by Rev. William F. Wender, Grace church minister, at the baptismal font before the candle-lit altar.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams served as sponsors with the parents. Mrs. Williams is the baby's maternal aunt. Also witnessing the baptism were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Dippre, maternal grandparents; Mrs. Rose Sargeant, maternal great-grandmother; Mrs. Emma Dippre, paternal great-grandmother; Mrs. Harold Miller, maternal aunt; and Mrs. Andrew J. Dippre and son, Dale Andrew Dippre.

Robert C. Boehmer, F.N., the baby's father, is stationed at the U. S. Naval Training Center at Bainbridge, Md. His mother is formerly Doris Henrietta Dippre of East Stroudsburg. Robert Charles Boehmer II was born Nov. 18, 1952 at Bainbridge.

Rev. William E. Foose, Tannersville Charge, Taught Sunday School Classes When Only 12

The desire to enter the ministry came at an early age for Rev. William E. Foose, pastor of the Tannersville charge of the Evangelical Reformed Church.

At the age of 12 in his home community, Landisburg, Pa., Rev. Foose taught Sunday School classes and was elected superintendent of the school when not quite 17. He held that post for five years.

But college was not in the immediate view of Rev. Foose when he graduated from Landisburg High School in 1937. And so for the next five years he worked in a flour mill, saving his dimes and dollars for the day when he could enter the ministerial field.

It was August, 1942 and the 22-year-old man went into the U. S. Army Air Force. After completing radio and gunnery training in the States, he left with a squadron of B-17s for England. In the next six months he flew 25 combat missions over Germany, then was commissioned a second lieutenant and was made a training officer.

After touring with the Air Force to France, Africa and Gibraltar, where he aided in establishing communications headquarters, he returned to England and in April, 1945 married Muriel Rose Bates, a native of Rushden, England, about 60 miles north of London.

Rev. Foose returned stateside in December, 1945 and was honorably discharged. His wife followed him here three months later.

In September, 1946 Rev. Foose entered Catawba College, Salisbury, where he will graduate in May and be ordained, soon thereafter. Meanwhile he spends his weekdays in Tannersville, N. C., and received his bachelor of arts degree in 1950, majoring in English and history.

Four churches comprise Rev. Foose's charge. He alternates services in pairs each week, devoting his time between St. Marks at Appenzell and Grace Church, Tannersville, one Sunday, and St. Paul's at Swiftwater and Salem at Pocono Lake the following week.

In Appenzell at the Union Church services are held at 7:30 p. m. and in Tannersville the worship occurs at 10:45 a. m. In Swiftwater, Rev. Foose conducts services at 9:15 a. m., then drives to Pocono Lake for a 10:45 a. m. worship.

Although he still is matriculating in the seminary, Rev. Foose already has spoken in 32 different churches, including an orphan's home in North Carolina where he held services for six months, and for three months recently he substituted at Faith Church, Lancaster for the pastor who was ill.

A talented but modest musician, Rev. Foose contends the clarinet is his best instrument, but he also claims his favorite pastime is the piano. He also strums a banjo and plays the violin quite well.

At present Rev. Foose is anxiously awaiting April when 30 new members will be received into the church. For the 32-year-old pastor, the reception is paramount in his early career, which actually will be launched at the ordination services sometime after graduation in May.

If only
she knew—

She's sad and old beyond her years—this child of the world. And hopeless, too.

A candy cane and a box of nuts from a Christmas tree—when what she wanted more than anything else was to be loved and cared-for, with the promise of a better tomorrow.

If only she had heard, at home and Sunday school, the story of the Christ-child who came to bless little children, she would feel loved.

If only she had heard of the Child who grew into a Man, dependable, strong, and wise, she would feel confident of loving care. If only she had heard how He brings triumph over poverty, pain, and failure, her eyes would mirror hope.

Be sure that the light of faith shines from your child's eyes. Be sure that through Church and home, she—and other little ones—learn all about God's ever-present love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Our New Congress

When the 83rd Congress convenes at noon today it will be the tenth to open its first regular session in January, two months after being elected, instead of December of the year following its election — that is, 13 months after it had been elected. Special sessions prior to a regular session constitute an exception.

While the 83rd Congress will have a Republican majority in both branches—the second Congress in 22 years to be so set up—majorities are exceedingly slim. The new Senate has 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and 1 independent. In the House are 221 Republicans, 211 Democrats and 1 independent.

Prospects are strong that the session will be lively from the start. A bipartisan drive to tighten the Senate's anti-filibuster rule has taken shape. The plan is to try to force the chamber to vote itself a new set of rules in disregard of the practice under which rules have carried over from session to session.

Representing Monroe County and the other two counties of this Congressional District will be Francis E. Walter, Easton Democrat who has served the people of the district ably for ten consecutive terms.

Mr. Walter will be taking the oath of office for his 11th term. This long experience and the seniority that goes with it, even though Republicans are in control, will assure citizens of this region sound representation in the 83rd Congress.

Hippocratic Oath?

The relationship between doctor and patient is supposed to be sacredly private, but a certain one was shattered loudly in St. Louis the other day.

It seems that Dr. Robert Markowitz, a dentist, was about to enter a theater at the same time as one Ben Weisberg. Mr. Weisberg proclaimed that a plate the dentist had made for him didn't fit, and made what police termed "a slighting remark."

The sacred relationship being violated already, Dr. Markowitz retorted that Weisberg still owed him his bill.

Blows, the police said, were then struck, the crowds caused a traffic jam, and both men and their wives were hauled in for disturbing the peace.

It just goes to show that our system of private dentistry is best. Under socialized medicine the plate probably still wouldn't fit, but poor Deisberg would have been charged with assaulting a government officer.

Corkage Charge

A retired Army colonel from the Tennessee bourbon country took a trip to Europe this fall.

He thoughtfully included a couple of bottles of bonded stuff in his luggage. Staying at the Savoy in London, what with the chill and fog and all, he took a nip now and then in his room.

He didn't even order seltzer or ice. He tossed the empty bottle in the wastebasket.

He was startled to find a one-pound "corkage charge" on his bill when he checked out. After considerable argument it came out that the hotel found he had been nipping from his own bottle in his own room because the servants had reported the empty bottle in the wastebasket.

So the colonel warns all Americans traveling to Britain: If you drink from your own bottle, don't drop it in a wastebasket when it's empty. Sneak it out under your overcoat and toss it in the Thames.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

Is Everything Clear Now?

Not satisfied with recent renewals of attempts to find out just how far Joe Stalin will go for world peace, Elmer Twichell starts off the new year with the news he interviewed Joe on New Year's Eve somewhere between the fourth glass of champagne and the first severe dizzy spell and got the following answer. Elmer insists it is the question and answer program to end all question and answer programs with Moscow.

Q. Do you feel that world peace would be more promising if men stopped beating their wives?

A. I do not think it inevitable that men should beat their wives and I consider it possible for wife-beaters and wives to live together in the same world.

Q. How do you stand on the beanball?

A. The beanball is not inevitable.

Q. Would you favor a conference with President Eisenhower on the state of the world and steps to bring peace?

A. I always am ready to confer with any ruler who will make the long trip to the Kremlin and wait in the hall until I ask him in. What can I lose?

Q. Is there any chance that you may some time stop calling Americans a race of murderers, hangmen, crop poisoners, savages, warmongers and all-around brutes?

A. I would consider discussing this with the provision I am permitted to call Americans murderers, hangmen, crop poisoners, savages, etc.

Q. What is your position (this week) on international law, the customs of civilization and the value of a signature on a treaty?

A. I think treaty violators and those who thumb their noses at treaties can get along together. The U.S.S.R. does not disapprove of the customs of civilization. I will match my regard for a treaty signature with Molotov's regard for it.

Q. Would you favor a conference on the kidney punch, the blow below the belt, the use of brass knuckles in debating societies and a ratio of nine parts vodka to one part water in bird-baths?

A. I think the kidney punch, the low blow, brass knuckles and vodka-filled bird baths can live together.

Q. Will you cooperate in a new approach to world peace?

A. I will not only cooperate, but have my well-known cooperation experts, Messrs. Vishinsky, Gromyko and Malik, on hand. My cooperators will cooperate to the last drop of your blood.

Q. Whom do you consider the main cause of friction in the world today?

A. Everybody everywhere who in any dispute with the U.S.S.R. begins a sentence with, "Yes, but let's look at the other side of the question."

Q. Have you changed your opinion on the American game of "beeball"?

A. I think it possible for the beeball and the nonbeeball world to live together. The question, "Who's on second?" is not inevitable.

A famous Rame elephant, which lived largely on spaghetti, died the other day. The strain of getting it into the mouth the right way was too much for it. . . . Sunday School Lesson

Scripture—Matthew 13
By Newman Campbell

The teachings of Jesus in this, our first lesson of the new year, is so very timely and applicable to us in our modern world, that we should read it earnestly and try to shape our daily living to His words.

Who among us is not guilty of being most punctilious in following the forms of our beliefs—its rules of conduct in relation to partaking of the sacrament, praying on our knees, etc.? However, in our attitude toward our fellow-men we are lax—often careless—sometimes even cruel—toward those we encounter in everyday life.

Ponder on Jesus' words in rebuking those who criticized His disciples. Scribes and Pharisees came to Jesus, sent from Jerusalem, saying, "Why do Thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders?" for they wash not their hands when they eat bread."

The Pharisees were the most legally-minded Jews of the times. They were very orthodox and strict in their obedience to the laws of the temple and merciless to those who were not so strict. They kept themselves away from the Gentiles, and enforced the most minute details of the traditions that had grown up around the holy teachings.

The scribes were esteemed for interpreting the will of God. These two groups did not criticize Christ, but His disciples. Orthodox Jews were supposed to wash their hands after coming out of the market, for instance walking down a street, or possibly, brushing against a Gentile. It was not a matter of personal cleanliness, such as washing before eating when one comes home from work, etc. Jesus' answer to these critics was: "Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your traditions?"

He pointed out that God commanded that they honor their parents, but they often got around that duty by giving a gift which was dedicated to God, and could not be put to any secular use even for such an honorable purpose as aiding needy parents.

"Ye hypocrites," Christ said, "well did Isaiah the prophet say, 'These people draweth nigh unto Me with their mouth, and honor-eth Me with their lips; but their heart is far from Me.'"

The scribes and Pharisees were silenced by the Lord's words. Jesus then told the multitudes that "Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth defileth a man."

The disciples asked Him if he realized that the Pharisees were offended at His rebuke? Peter, ever the brash one, said, "Declare unto us this parable."

Jesus said, "Are ye also without understanding? Do ye not understand that whatsoever entereth in at the mouth goeth into the belly? But those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man."

Out of the heart Christ said, come evil thoughts—of murder, blasphemies, thefts, etc. "but to eat with unwashed hands defileth not a man."

"Then Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon." A woman came to Him, a Cananite, and "cried out to Him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, Thou Son of David; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil."

Jesus did not answer her at once and the disciples cried, "Send her away; for she crieth after us!"

The woman came and worshipped Jesus, saying, "Lord, help me."

She convinced Him that she was sincere in her faith, and He healed the girl, saying, "O woman, great is thy faith; be it unto thee, even as thou wilt."

Jesus went then to the Sea of Galilee, and up into a mountain, one possibly overlooking the sea, but He was not left to commune with His Father long, for the multitudes followed Him, bringing their sick and devil-possessed to Him for healing.

Then "the multitudes wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see; and they glorified the God of Israel."

The last incident in our lesson tells of feeding about 4,000 people with a few loaves and fishes, which is not to be confused with the feeding of the 5,000 told by St. Matthew earlier in his book.

After feeding the multitude Jesus sent them away and took ship for the coasts of Megdala.

In the words of the Master addressing the multitude, "Hear (or read) and understand."

Memory Verse — "This is My commandment, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you."—John 15:12.

McCarran Says State Department Values Of U.N. Personnel 'Defective-Faulty'

These Days - - - - - By George Sokolsky

The Case of Gustavo Duran

Senator Pat McCarran and his committee have sought a method for discovering how an American citizen gets a job in the United Nations. His committee brought before them three State Department officials, Adrian S. Fisher, Carlisle H. Hickerson, and John D. Hickerson, who should know all about it as that is their business. The Committee was particularly interested to know who in the State Department evaluates the personnel material that comes into it from the FBI and other sources. For these gentlemen had no adequate answer because they said that they had been instructed by the Secretary of State not to tell.

On this subject, Senator McCarran issued a statement which included this:

"The evaluations made by the State Department were shown to be so faulty and so defective from a security standpoint as prima facie to justify, if not to require, an interrogation to determine if they were made as a result of subversive influence."

In relation to this, I came across the name of Gustavo Duran, who was born in Barcelona, Spain on November 14, 1906. He studied at the Conservatory of Madrid 1923-27. He resided in Paris 1929-34. He was reactivated in the Spanish army in 1936. He resided in England 1939-40. In 1940, he appears at Columbia University as a lecturer in Spanish; he becomes assistant director of the film division of the Latin American "department" of the Museum of Modern Art in 1941; he was assistant director of the music division of the Pan American Union, 1941-43. In 1943, he becomes a member of the auxiliary foreign service of the United States and in 1946 was made special assistant to the Assistant Secretary of State for American Republic Affairs. Then he went to the United Nations.

When did he become a citizen of the United States? The earliest year could be 1941; it was possibly 1945, as it takes an alien at least five years to become a citizen after he has come to this country. He is reported to have said that he was naturalized in 1942, which looks wrong in view of the chronology record here.

George S. Montgomery, Jr. became curious about this and wrote Dean Acheson to inquire. He received a reply from John D. Hickerson, Assistant Secretary of State, which reads as follows:

"Information received from the United States Mission to the Nations indicates that Gustav (or Gustavo) Duran (or Durand), about whom you inquired in your letter of July 17, 1951, is an American national employed by the Secretariat of the United Nations. He is not, therefore, an employee of the United States Government nor a representative of the United States of America to the United Nations."

"I trust that this information may be sufficient for your purpose. Further requests as to the present status of Mr. Duran may be sent to Mr. Georges Palthey, director of the bureau of personnel, United Nations Secretariat, New York 17, New York."

So, he wrote to the aforesaid

Mr. Georges Palthey, and received a reply from W. P. Barrett, deputy director, bureau of personnel of the United Nations, as follows:

"With reference to your letter of 6 August 1951, please be advised that Mr. Gustavo Duran is a member of the United Nations Secretariat, employed in the Department of Social Affairs."

"I regret that the other information which you have requested is regarded as confidential, and under the United Nations rules cannot be released."

Then Montgomery went back to Hickerson and received this reply from him:

"The Department has received your letters of August 6th and 14th concerning the employment of Mr. Gustavo Duran by the United Nations."

"Under the provisions of Articles 100 and 101 of the Charter of the United Nations, the Secretary General is vested with the exclusive responsibility for selection of Secretariat employees and Member governments are enjoined from influencing his decisions."

This correspondence is opposite to the testimony of Messrs. Fisher, Hickerson and Humelsine of the State Department before the McCarran Committee. They testified that a system did exist by which the State Department notified the United Nations concerning the security characteristics of any American applicant for a position in the United Nations. Trygve Lie told officials of the McCarran Committee and the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate that the United Nations asks for such biographical data.

You're Telling Me

Milt, the sterling printer man says he had a frightful nightmare the other evening. He dreamed it was Christmas Eve and his favorite radio station was interviewing Santa Claus just before the good Saint started his annual trip. It went like this:

"Good evening, everybody! This is Gabby Blahbermouth, your favorite announcer, with a big scoop for you—an interview with Santa. He'll tell you all about his trip. So give a listen!"

"Yes, sir, Santa is going to give us all the details of the big tour. Sort of a chimney-by-chimney account. Heh! Heh! That's pretty good—'chimney-by-chimney'!"

"You know, Mr. Claus who's standing right beside me, is probably today the most popular being on earth. No one else comes closer to him. Heh! Heh! Get it? Claus—close. Oh, we're sharp tonight!"

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

Among my Christmas presents this year was a so-called Tatter-sall vest.

It is the very latest style. So far only Hollywood and New York people have the courage to wear these things.

Mine is checkered in red and yellow and is guaranteed to make the wearer feel at least 20 years younger.

Of course, I'll never wear the darn thing. Fortunately the donor lives 3,000 miles away from here and, in the second place I don't want to feel any younger. I am glad to have gotten this far without any substantial trouble.

What impressed me most about this present was the desperate attempts to which the manufacturers of men's clothing go to make men style-conscious.

Someone once said that there is one sure way of finding out whether a man is well-dressed or not. If, when you leave him, you haven't the slightest idea what he wore—then he is a good dresser.

With women it seems to be just the other way around.

I met a female friend of ours in town the other day. When I got home my wife asked me what kind of a hat she had on and whether she wore a dress or a suit and please describe it.

The only thing I remembered about her was the last time I saw her she had black hair, while now it was blonde.

Well then, she can't have been very well dressed," my wife said.

By the way, I wonder whether most men are as dumb about women's things as I am.

This Christmas I intended to buy a few personal things for to deliver those millions and millions of gifts in a single night. It's a humdinger!

"For the trip the good Saint's wearing—oops, what's this? Golly, we've got just three seconds before the commercial and sign-off. Say something quick, Kris!"

Santa Claus: "Merry Christmas and—goodbye!"

The Calvary Baptist Church on West 57th Street. The steeple is crowded with people. Twelve floors of apartments over the roof. . . . The bankiest-looking bldg. on 5th Avenue: Tiffany's. . . . The bright-eyed, sweated Bernard College girls making W. 118 Street resemble a scene from a George Abbott musical. . . . The lively polar bears at the Bronx Zoo. The Marx Brothers in fur coats. A terrific crowd-pleaser. . . . The painting of Damon Runyon over his favorite corner in Lindy's. Looking down on many of the characters immortalized in his stories. . . . "Times Island" (at 42nd and Broadway), where you can buy a newspaper from nearly anywhere. There's a local newsstand, a stand for out-of-town gazettes, a foreign stand and a stand for back numbers. . . . There are three acres of roof gardens atop Rockefeller Center. . . . The town's most mystifying mural: The way Broadway's glitter is embellished during a storm.

The Radio City Music Hall foyer which has the world's largest chandelier. Weighs two tons. . . . The charming nook in Sutton Place: A tree-lined private cobble road. . . . The homes on Grove Street built in the early 1800s. . . . Many years ago several wealthy New Yorkers couldn't acquire boxes for the opera at the Academy of Music. They evened matters by building the Metropolitan Opera House. . . . Serene Washington Square — once a cemetery and public gallows. . . . The one movie theatre consistently showing Westerns. It is named: The New York. . . . Edwin Goodman, landlord of Bergdorf's, has a penthouse on the top floor of his famed store. But in order to dwell in the non-residential edifice he is listed as janitor.

The Owl, a restaurant at 49th and 6th, where showfolks breakfast until midnight. At the stroke of 12 a poster goes up to announce "Lunch Now Being Served". . . . The only cafeteria in Our Town with a menu: Langley's at 50th and 6th. Its bill-of-fare is tonier than those in many swank places. . . . The costliest window showcase in town: Van Cleef & Arpels on 5th near 57th. More than a million dollars in gems sparkle there, seemingly unguarded. . . . The legend that people who work in banks enjoy the best hours. Hundreds of bank-tellers toil weekends behind soda fountains (and as cashiers in shops) to make a decent living. . . . One of the most relaxing spots in town: The upper deck of the Rockefeller Observation Roof—where you laze in steamer chairs—sometimes over the clouds.

The Diamond Exchange on W. 47th Street, where jewelers receive daily packages from South Africa, London and Paris, in plain wrappers (bearing 60c postage) often containing $600,000 worth of uncut stones. . . . The sector of Rockefeller Plaza where all the British shops and agencies are located. Nicknamed the English Channel. . . . The corner of Grand and Ludlow Streets on the lower East Side, known as Cucumber Corner to the wholesale pickle people. Millions of sweet and sour ones are loaded on trucks throughout the night. Such perfume! . . . The world's largest delicatessen (Katz's) at the corner of Houston and Ludlow. They serve over 10,000 sandwiches a day—featuring 17 kinds of salami. . . . The unusually fresh air in the Holland Tunnel. Changed every one-and-a-half minutes.

Why New York remains the entertainment capital: More than 700 theaters seat almost half the population of Los Angeles. . . . The romantic touch at the Marriage Chpel in the Municipal Bldg.: Flowered wall paper and potted palms. All for $2. . . . The memorial windows at the Little Church Around the Corner. They honor famed actors of the yesterday. . . . The most delectable food bazaar of them all: The massive Park Avenue market (in East Harlem) where hourly shipments arrive from tropical places. A mouth-watering thrill. . . . 42nd Street, between B'way and 8th, once the scene for the Best Plays. It is now the home for 13 movie mosques where old cinemas never die. . . . That limousine (with the grinning skull mounted on its front) once belonged to Al Capone. The skull is the new owner's idea. . . . The reason the baby gorillas at the Bronx Zoo are behind glass: To protect them from your germs. . . .

Ministerial Association To Assist In Blood Donor Program

Jan. 20 Set Bloodmobile's Next Visit

The Ministerial Association of Monroe County will assist with the Red Cross blood donor program, LeRoy Mikels, county blood donor chairman, reported at the executive committee meeting of the local Red Cross held last night. Arlington W. Williams, chapter chairman, presided.

Although 156 donors contributed at the VFW blood donor day during December, the local chapter is 80 pints below its quota during the first six months of the quota year.

Mr. Mikels expressed the hope that the 80 pints would be made up during the coming six months. Rev. Ernest T. Campbell was named in charge of the program for the ministerial association, and the first Blood Donor Day will be held Jan. 20 at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Volunteers were active during the month of December. Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler, chairman of the volunteer services reported, with 72 volunteers giving a total of 776 hours of service. The blood bank required the services of 38 volunteers for 248 hours, while the hospital used 48 volunteers for 514 hours.

Motor service made six trips of 182 miles including one trip of 170 miles for 18 hours of service. Registered nurses, seven of them, gave 43 hours of service; 8 nurses aides, 73 hours; Grey Lady, 41 volunteers for 484 hours; canteen, 17 volunteers 115 hours, and administration 9 volunteers, 16 hours.

Russell Harmon, disaster chairman, reported on action of the committee during the recent flood threat. He had called the police of both boroughs as well as the state police and ask them to refer any cases of need to Red Cross headquarters with which he kept in touch.

Plans to mobilize boats, blankets and other essentials in case the flood increased were underway when the waters started to recede. Mr. Harmon also reported serving as an observer in the recent civilian defense air raid test.

C. Of C. To Hold Election

Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting and election of one half the board of directors Monday, Jan. 12, at noon in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Jacob Wachtman, executive secretary, announced last night.

Contributions made to the March of Dimes by residents of every community in the nation are used to make it possible for a small child like San to walk again.

Through continuing research into the causes of the disease and sufficient funds for treatment for all those afflicted by polio the long, uphill struggle against polio may be won.

Looking back on 1952, Mrs. Pedersen remembers a little grimly, that it was the worst polio year in our history. It topped the previous epidemic year (1949) by nearly two-thirds.

March of Dimes officials are beginning this year's drive with renewed vigor and a dead serious enthusiasm.

Never before has the collection of funds to combat polio been more a matter of life and death.

Hurley Seeks Senate Post

Washington, (AP)—Patrick J. Hurley, defeated Republican candidate for the Senate from New Mexico, yesterday filed formal notice that he is contesting the seating of reelected Sen. Chavez (D-NM).

In a petition received by the clerk of the Senate, Hurley charged there were discrepancies, errors and omissions in the Nov. 4 balloting which the State Board of Canvassers failed to have corrected.

He urged that the Senate deny Chavez a seat; that it be determined that he (Hurley) was lawfully elected, and that Chavez' certification of election be declared void.

Hurley said a fair investigation and recount of ballots in many districts would have to be held soon in order to determine the lawful winner. He asked that such an investigation be made.

Argument Court Stated Monday

A session of argument court will be held at the Court House starting at 10 a.m. Monday.

District Attorney Elmer D. Christine has 15 cases listed, most of which he said were based on speeding charges.

Other routine matters will also be brought to the attention of President Judge Fred W. Davis, who will preside.

Without making any recommendations, the group passed on to the Senate of the next Congress, opening today, the question whether McCarthy should be expelled, as demanded by Sen. Benton (D-Conn.).

Winding up nearly 17 months of investigation of charges Benton and McCarthy had flung at one another, the subcommittee took one swipe at Benton, but several at McCarthy, whom it accused of having "deliberately set out to thwart any investigation of him."

The subcommittee said that its report, as well as its files in connection with its investigation of Benton's charges against McCarthy, "will be available to the Department of Justice and Bureau of Internal Revenue for any action deemed appropriate by such agencies."

Chairman Hennings (D-Mo) told reporters that the report, as it related to Benton, also would be submitted to both the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Bureau.

McCarthy, in a prepared statement, fired back that the subcommittee had struck "a new low in dishonesty and smear" in its comments about him.

Only One Drunken Driver Arrested

Philadelphia, (AP)—Dr. Saverio Burnett, chief of police and fire surgeons, said yesterday that only one case of drunken driving was reported in Philadelphia "New Year's Eve"—the lowest in my 24 years of experience as a police surgeon.

Burnett credited both the foul weather on New Year's Eve and the intense campaign waged by police, newspapers and others for establishing what he said was a record for many years.

Investigation Continues

No new developments were reported last night in the teen-age burglary case solved by East Stroudsburg borough Police Officer Ed Harloe on New Year's Eve.

Solution of a string of 13 burglaries committed in East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg from last June to the present was reached Wednesday at 10:30 p.m. when Harloe apprehended a 14-year-old East Stroudsburg school boy inside the Courtright Service Station on N. Courtland St.

Further developments on Thursday disclosed the boy had been aided by a 13-year-old boy and—on one burglary—by a 19-year-old girl who had been employed at a factory but was currently unemployed.

Eleven of the burglaries were committed in East Stroudsburg; the remaining two in Stroudsburg.

Listed by police are the following burglaries: Courtright Service Station, Dec. 1 and New Year's Eve; Traders Flour and Feed Co. last June, in October and again on Dec. 30; Courtland Motors; Robert Heeter's Mobile Service Station; East Stroudsburg Lumber Co.; Peoples Coal Co.; Canfield's Feed Mill and the Cream-ee Ice Cream Co., on Nov. 2 and Nov. 9.

An estimated $569.75 in cash was netted by the teen-agers over a period of months, police estimated. Also stolen were a number of small items.

All three young people have been released in the custody of relatives.

Leopards vs. Mules

Easton, Pa., (AP)—On a losing streak during the last two weeks, the Lafayette College will seek to regain its winning form next week when it meets two old rivals.

Next Wednesday, the Maroon passers will meet Muhlenberg here in the first of the annual two-game series, and next Saturday will travel to Lewisburg to face Bucknell, also in the first of two this season.

Bridston is a leader of the Republican Organizing Committee, a faction within the North Dakota GOP opposed to the Nonpartisan League, with which Langer has been identified for many years.

Two Couples Apply To Wed

The marriage license department at the prothonotary's office at the Court House got off to a good start for 1953 yesterday when two applications were received.

Those who applied for licenses were: William C. Sunday and Helen Harmon, both of Stroudsburg, also William Bruce Starnier, Portland, and Jean Eshbach, of Bushkill.

Coolbaugh Property Transferred

The office of Floyd Butz, register and recorder at the Court House was kept quite busy processing property transfers during the week.

This was especially true the last day of December when a large number were filed, also yesterday when six more were added to the list.

Walter Heiser, administrator of the estate of Louis Neipert, Coolbaugh Township, by his deed transferred a property in that area to Margaret H. and Janet M. Chubbuck, also Coolbaugh Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Matiero, of Brooklyn, N. Y., disposed of a property on the Echo Lake to Coolbaugh Rd., to Mr. and Mrs. William Gerard, also of Brooklyn.

In another transaction, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scavo, of Stroudsburg, disposed of property including two tracts of land in Stroud Township, the former Clarence F. Rinker land, to Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Wilson Jr., of Delaware Water Gap. One parcel of land contained 47 acres and the other 47 acres and 56 perches.

H. Murray Abelloff, of East Stroudsburg, became the owner of property in Stroudsburg along Pocono Creek through the filing of a deed by the Stroud Realty Co. The land adjoins that of Joseph H. Hartman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Garrison Shaffer filed a deed disposing of a tract of land containing 6,240 square feet in Pocono Township to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton B. Kinsley, of the same area. It was formerly the Claude A. Hay property along the Lackawanna Trail.

Through the filing of her deed, Christine E. Haas, Stroudsburg, transferred a plot of land on Oak St., to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Elsenberger, also of Stroudsburg.

Lehigh Athletes Have Great Year

Bethlehem, Pa., (AP)—Lehigh University athletes scored triumphs in 91 contests during the past calendar year of 160 intercollegiate events for one of the most successful campaigns in athletics.

Leading the Engineers with the only undefeated record are the riflemen who won 13 straight in 1952 extending their winning streak to 17 matches. The Brown and White sharpshooters turned in their third undefeated mark since 1937. In 20 years of competition, Lehigh rifle teams have won 69 and lost 28.

Golf and cross country squads dropped but one contest each. The Brown and White also had winning teams in baseball, fencing, football, swimming, soccer, and track; and broke even in wrestling. They lost more than they won in basketball, hockey, lacrosse, and tennis.

U.S., Aussies Share

Adelaide, Jan. 2.—The United States and Australian Lawn Tennis Assns. will share around 50,000 Australian pounds (about $111,000) in profits from the Davis Cup challenge round.

This is an estimate made today by the South Australian Assn., which ran the challenge round, won by Australia four matches to one.

WFV Post Distributes Packages

The Christmas welfare and service committee of Thomas Lambert Post, 2546, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Stroudsburg, has announced completion of a successful year in distribution of gifts to servicemen in Korea, hospitalized veterans and others confined to their homes.

Howard Mount, committee chairman, said last night the Ladies Auxiliary of the post joined with the men in packing 28 boxes, 12 of which went to Korea and the other 16 to members in service in the States, others confined to hospitals and at home. Clothing also was provided for 12 children of veterans.

The day before Christmas the post distributed 28 baskets to sick members and other county veterans, Mount said.

Republicans To Attend Inauguration

Ben K. Williams, Monroe County Republican chairman, said last night that a movement is under way to organize a crowd to attend the inaugural of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The county chairman said last night that leaders of the various Republican organizations in the county will get busy the coming week to make a check in order to ascertain the number of people from the county who will make the trip.

A special inauguration train will leave Bethlehem Tuesday, Jan. 20, at 5 a.m. for Washington and on return is expected to arrive back there about 11 that night.

Williams said that Monroe County had been allotted 50 tickets for the special train. Efforts to dispose of these will be the aim of the organization leaders, he added.

Large delegations from Carbon and Northampton County sections were expected to make the trip, the Monroe County chairman said.

NOTICE TO HOUSEHOLDERS
IN THE BOROUGH OF
EAST STROUDSBURG
Because many householders are disregarding the provisions of the Ordinance providing for the collection of garbage, refuse and ashes, it has become necessary to enforce the Ordinance. Garbage, refuse and ashes shall be placed for collection in three separate containers as follows:
1. Garbage shall be put in covered, water tight, metal containers.
2. Ashes shall be put in metal containers.
3. Refuse shall be put in durable containers which will not be affected by rain or snow.
BOROUGH OF EAST STROUDSBURG

Seven Treated In Dispensary At Hospital

Dispensary at Monroe County Hospital, East Stroudsburg, treated seven persons Thursday as 1953 made its debut.

Two persons involved in automobile accidents were among those treated. They were Elizabeth Ace, of Ninth St., Stroudsburg, and Daisy Heins, 216 Lackawanna Ave., East Stroudsburg. The former suffered contusions of the forehead and right knee while the latter sustained a contusion and abrasion of the forehead.

The other five persons treated all were victims of falls.

Nelson Andrew, 18, of Weissport, lacerated his left forearm in a fall down a short flight of steps.

Judith Vaughn, 9, of 87 Second St., Stroudsburg, lacerated her right knee in a fall; Daniel Fox, 52, of Brooklyn, N. Y., fractured his right wrist when he slipped on ice; Diane Widdoss, 6, of Delaware Water Gap, fell down a night of steps, about 15 feet, and sustained a contusion of the left eyebrow and left hip; and Sarah Doelden, of 14 Fourth St., Stroudsburg, lacerated her scalp when she fell against steps.

Two Nurses Slightly Hurt

A patch of icy pavement was blamed for a crash at 8:35 a.m. yesterday on Route 611, one-quarter mile south of Mount Pocono, in which two Scranton nurses were slightly injured.

Marion Foreng, 22, the driver, was treated for abrasions of the left hand and shock condition while Ann Lanzo suffered bruises on her chin and hands. The two girls were treated by Dr. E. O. Hendrick, Mount Pocono.

Their car skidded on a patch of ice and hit a rock embankment on the side of the highway.

THE Wyckoff
SHOPPER

It seems to me that an article about a sale of men's suits belongs on the women's page of a newspaper, for the simple reason that in most cases it's the women of the household who must prod Dad into outfitting himself every now and then. Women, I am told, dress for men. I don't believe this for a minute—but I DO believe that most men dress BECAUSE of women. It's the quickest way to stop a woman from talking on those frequent occasions when she feels that her husband verges on being a sartorial disgrace to her.

Unless he's a bachelor with a few bright ideas all his own, the average male, I'm sure, would—if left to his own devices—wear the same baggy pants, fraying cuffs, and battered hat until doomsday, without even noticing that he wasn't quite as dashing today as he had been five years ago. And this applies to men of all ages from eight to eighty, with perhaps a brief period of primping somewhere around the Turbulent Teens and the Tumultuous Twenties. That's why I think it's the woman of the household who will be interested in the Men's Suit Sale now under way in our Wyckoff's Men's Shop.

More than one woman who hears about it, is going to have a gleam in her eye as she says, "Now, Henry, about that suit you've been needing . . ." And I can warn Henry now that he might as well submit gracefully and come in to see us, for no woman of determination is going to subsidize in the face of bargains such as these. Fifty dollar suits have been marked down to $37.50; $55 suits are now priced at $42.50, and $65 suits are sale priced at $52.50.

Henry . . . or John . . . or Joe may argue that he hasn't this much money now, right after Christmas. But here again he hasn't a leg to stand on. We've thought about that, and suggest that he buy it on the budget plan, with a ten dollar down payment.

In desperation, he may argue, "Yeah, but I'm hard to fit and they wouldn't have my size." Which puts him right out on a limb, as every woman knows. We have sizes galore . . . regulars, shorts, longs, and short shorts, in single breasted and some double breasted styles. What is more, we can satisfy every taste, for our stock covers plaids, tweeds and stripes in handsome, clean-cut wardrobes. Fact is, we can fit and please not only John, Joe, and Henry, but every Tom, Dick, and Harry and his brother. And when alterations are in order, we're equipped to handle them at a slight charge.

Just between us, the way a man dresses is frequently important to his wife and his teen-age daughter. Many fathers would, I'm sure, suit their families a lot better if they'd only suit themselves in a manner suitable to the important guys that they are!

Miss Phillips Is Bride On New Year's

Miss Barbara Jean Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Phillips of 830 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, became the bride of Arthur Eugene Woolever, son of Mrs. Julia Woolever and the late Ernest Woolever of 1406 Dreher Avenue, Stroudsburg, at 8:30 o'clock on New Year's evening Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

The quiet and impressive double-ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church pastor, before the candle-lit altar. The bride couple knelt before the altar on a white satin pillow during the wedding prayers. The chancel was graced with two large illuminated Canadian evergreen trees.

The bride was attired in a navy-blue street length dress with matching accessories and wore a white carnation corsage. Clyde Heckman and Leonard Randolph witnessed the wedding.

The bride is a member of the Senior Class of Stroudsburg High School and is employed at the American House. The bridegroom attended Stroudsburg High School and is employed by the American Store in Stroudsburg. The newlyweds will be at home to their friends at 1406 Dreher Avenue, Stroudsburg.

Degree Team Monday

Sciota—The degree team of the Rebekah Lodge will meet for practice on Monday, January 5, at 8:30 p.m. when all members are asked to be present.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Forty engagements during the holidays is somewhat of a record for us, I think. It might be a good idea to send out a farm letter suggesting that they sort of stagger their wedding dates, though. Imagine coping with 40 weddings, all on the third Saturday in June.

Imagine coping with all the meetings scheduled for next week, after a meeting-less holiday.

You know, there's a certain rhythm to working—well, that's what I call working. It always seems very hectic in the Fall when the meetings start. Such simple things as getting your pin curls dry in time for an afternoon meeting, of shifting from meeting-going clothes to cooking clothes and back again, of cooking enough potatoes to last you through late-meeting afternoons so you can have them creamed, hash browned or saladized on the nights when there's not time to cook more.

Gradually, though, you work into the swing of the thing, learn to do a lot more in less time, to read the minutes and how to get there just when the program starts—or they begin to serve refreshments.

Such a long Winter recess, however, has everybody out of practice. Likely to arrive at the meeting in slipper socks and dungarees, and eat beans and hamburger with the family on the night I'm invited to dine on turkey.

Appenzell—Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Butz announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Jean, to Verdon Rustine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rustine of Reeders.

They are both graduates of Pocono High School. Miss Butz is employed by the National Drug Co. at Swiftwater and Mr. Rustine is a carpenter, at present working on a housing project in Easton.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Cherry Valley Grange Holds Program, Supper

Cherry Valley—At the regular meeting of Cherry Valley Grange Tuesday night, December 30, a Christmas program was presented.

Master Richard Seidof presided at the opening session with a song, accompanied by Miss Nancy Metzgar at the piano. Mrs. Edith LaBar was accepted as a new member.

The lecturer, Mrs. Margaret Getz, was in charge of the program. Chaplain, Mrs. Helen Rogers, read the scripture, and Mrs. Marie Cyphers gave a reading, "A Village Street at Christmas Time." Hans Houck played several Christmas hymns on the hand harmonica and Mrs. Ann Schobert gave a reading "Christmas on the Farm".

In his talk Master Richard Seidof read a poem "A New Grange Year". Group singing and decorations arranged by Mrs. Margaret Getz, Mrs. Helen Rogers and Mrs. Bertha Williams added to the program.

Gifts were exchanged and a covered dish supper was served.

Two Complete Assistance Board Terms

With the end of December, two Monroe County residents completed the limit of service permitted under the law for members of county boards of assistance.

The two local members who have served the maximum limit of two consecutive full terms of three years each are Mrs. Pearl Altomose, Brodheadsville, and Mrs. Emma L. Shoemith, Stroudsburg.

As members of the county assistance board, Mrs. Altomose and Mrs. Shoemith served without pay.

They were appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. Board members are chosen from among persons interested in business, social welfare, labor, industry, education or public administration.

In appreciation of the work done by the retiring board members, Mrs. Eleanor G. Evans, secretary of the Department of Public Assistance, said:

"The help that these people have unselfishly given in the many problems our staffs have faced, calls for public thanks as well as my own gratitude. I hope that, as 'graduate' board members, they will continue their interest and their help."

The retirement of the two local members spotlights the service that members of county boards give to the problems of helping local people who need financial help in order to maintain a minimum standard of living, Mrs. Evans said.

Public assistance work is administered on a local basis with State and Federal money under State supervision.

Industry-Wide Bargaining Ban Not Sought Now

New York (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) says he doesn't favor a ban on industry-wide bargaining, but says it might become necessary unless means are found to cope with national strikes.

Taft, in an interview with Fortune magazine published yesterday, said "it would be almost impossible" to enforce such a ban, and "right now, I don't think I'd propose it." But he added:

"If all other remedies fail in dealing with nation-wide strikes, then we might have to try something like that."

Taft said he hoped to keep intact the basic features of the Taft-Hartley labor law, and see how they work under the new Republican administration. But he wants certain changes.

Penn's Ernie Beck Leader In Scoring

New York (AP)—When Pennsylvania's high-jumping Ernie Beck went on a 47-point scoring spree against Duke in the Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament—a feat that earned him a place on the All-Star Tournament team—he also went into the lead in the national major college scoring race.

Beck edged out Seton Hall's tall Walter Dukes on the basis of average points per game although Dukes has a far higher scoring total.

Holiday tournament play produced a thorough shakeup in the table of scoring leaders, the figures released yesterday by the National Collegiate A. A. Service Bureau and including games of Tuesday, Dec. 30, reveal.

Beck, who has played only six games, has scored 184 points for an average of 30.7 per game. Dukes, the 6-foot, 11-inch sharpshooter who was the leader through last week, has averaged 29.1 points through 10 games for a total of 291. That's a slight improvement over his previous record but not enough to keep up with Beck.

Two other tournaments feasts of somewhat astounding proportions sent little Johnny O'Brien of Seattle and big Bob Pettit of Louisiana State into third and fourth places.

O'Brien became the first major college player of the season to pass the 300-point mark in scoring when he racked up 28 points against Georgetown and 41 against Boston College in successive games in the Boston Garden Tournament. Johnny now has a four-year total of 2,687 points.

Pettit, second to Dukes through Dec. 20, slumped a bit then bounced back in the Sugar Bowl Tournament, racking up 34 points against Villanova and 28 against defense-minded St. Louis. As it stands now, O'Brien has averaged 27.4 points, coming up from eighth place on the list, while Pettit's average is 27.2.

Although Louisiana State had a 100-point game in the Sugar Bowl tournament, two teams that remained out of tournament competition stayed on top in the team scoring statistics. It was Navy with a 92.4 point average for six games and George Washington with 91.4 for seven. Then came LSU with 87.6 and Mississippi with 87.4.

Defensively Toledo, holding its opposition to 48.6 points a game, held the edge over Oklahoma A. & M., the All-College Tournament winner, with 49.7.

Leaders in other departments included:

Fewest personal fouls: St. Bonaventure, 14.3 per game.

Native Dancer Will Carry Big Handicap

New York (AP)—In about a week the annual Experimental Handicap ratings will be announced and horsemen were guessing yesterday that Handicapper John R. Campbell will assign a pretty hefty load to Native Dancer—sensational 1952 two-year-old champion.

Each January Campbell, racing secretary for the New York tracks, compiles an Experimental Handicap list. In this he attempts to predict on the basis of last season's form what the new three-year-old horses will do in such classics as the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Native Dancer, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's unbeaten juvenile star, may get 130 or more pounds, in the estimation of some horse experts. Campbell is a great admirer of the grey galloper, voted the No. 1 horse of 1952 by the Thoroughbred Racing Association's board of selectors.

Campbell hasn't given more than 126 pounds to a horse since 1946. That year the Maine Chance Farm's Lord Boswell carried 128 pounds and finished fourth to Assault in the Derby.

DeSpirito Is Tired Out

Miami, Fla. (AP)—The strain of winning 390 horse races last year has tired out Jockey Tony DeSpirito.

He cancelled five scheduled rides at Tropical Park yesterday and called off any assignments for tomorrow.

"I'll be all right after a short rest," said the Lawrence, Mass., rider who cracked the old record of 388 in a year on Dec. 30 and added another winner New Year's Eve.

Breaking the record is a nerve-racking experience that leads to jittery days and sleepless nights. DeSpirito rode eight horses yesterday, the first day of the 1953 season, but found the strain finally had caught up with him. He decided on some rest, for a couple of days at least.

PIAA Officials Meeting

Tom Leonard, president of the PIAA basketball officials here, last night announced an important meeting at the YMCA Monday at 7 p.m. This is the second meeting of the season. All officials are asked to attend. Discussion will center around several unusual and interesting situations which have developed.

FORMER Penn State track star, Horace Ashenfelter, now an FBI agent, has been selected as the winner of the 1952 Sullivan Memorial award as the "amateur athlete who, by performance, example and influence, did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year." Ashenfelter scored an upset victory in the steeplechase in the Olympic Games, beating the favorite, a Russian.

Unlimited Fouls Draw Criticisms

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—"Fouls Unlimited" drew criticism yesterday from most coaches who saw their players perform under the experimental rule during the Illinois High School basketball holiday tournaments.

Many coaches and sports writers said they felt the rule made a farce of the game and resulted in a continual parade to the free throw line.

Under the experiment, conducted by the Illinois High School Association, a player was allowed to remain in the game even after he had committed five personal fouls, the usual disqualifying number.

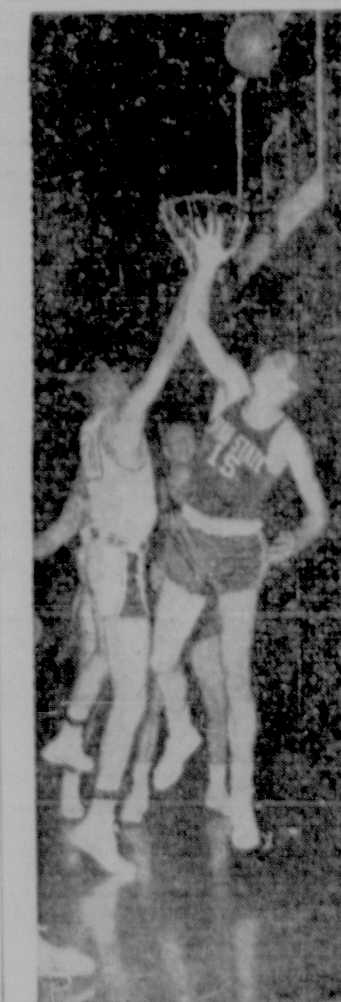

Each foul beyond the fourth was termed a technical and the shooting team was given the ball out of bounds after the attempted free throw, whether it was made or missed.

In the tournament at East St. Louis, one game saw Mt. Pulaski score a 70-57 upset victory over Gillespie largely with the aid of the "fouls unlimited" regulation. The Mt. Pulaski boys tried 61 free throws and sank 40 of them.

Turbine Motors For Indianapolis

Indianapolis, (AP)—The 500-mile auto race will be open to turbine-motor cars this year, but none is expected to run until 1954.

The Indianapolis Motor Speedway announced yesterday that no size limits will be applied to turbine motors until 1955. The speedway has limits on the size of conventional and diesel engines for the Memorial Day races.

DARREL TUCKER (No. 15) of Utah State potted 21 points to lead his team to a victory over previously undefeated Manhattan College in the finals of the basketball carnival at New York's Madison Square Garden during the holidays. Tucker here fights for the ball under the basket with a Miami player, in early round.

Governor Of Ole Miss Hits Officiating

Jackson, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi yesterday sent a blistering telegram to Southeastern Conference Commissioner Bernie Moore rapping "the worst officiating I've ever seen" at the Sugar Bowl football game.

White, a star lineman at the University of Mississippi in the 1890s, saw Georgia Tech beat Mississippi 24-7 in New Orleans Thursday.

The governor said he was not criticizing "a magnificent Georgia Tech" team in similar messages to Moore in Birmingham and to George Gardner, head of the SEC officials, in Atlanta.

White told Moore: "In my judgment, I witnessed the worst officiating that I have ever seen Thursday at the Sugar Bowl game."

"The fair catch decision was a disgrace. I express the sentiment of thousands of our citizens. I'm surprised the SEC tolerated such officiating."

The fair catch decision came in the second half when three Mississippi tacklers swarmed Tech Halfback Bobby Moorehead who had signaled for a fair catch of a Mississippi punt.

The tacklers hit Moorehead viciously and the ball squirted from his hands. Instead of Mississippi owning the recovered fumble in the shadow of Georgia Tech's goal line, officials ruled a 15-yard penalty against Ole Miss.

White said to newsmen, "If we're going to have clean sports, colleges must wake up to what was going on."

He apparently was referring to officiating but did not elaborate.

Lafayette Wrestling Starts Fast

Easton, Pa. (AP)—Off to the best start in some years by winning the first three matches, the Lafayette College wrestling team appears headed for a successful year.

Frank Eisenhauer, veteran mentor of the Maroon matmen, has a well balanced squad that includes six lettermen from last year's team.

The Downing brothers of Pittsburgh, Bob and Bill, are the team's mainstays and most consistent winners. Both seniors, they are wrestling at Lafayette for the third successive season. Bill in the 157-pound class and Bob at 167 pounds.

Other veterans are Willard Snyder, of Forty Fort, at 130 pounds; Bob Laegler, of Hightstown, N. J., at 137 pounds; John D'Huyvetters, of Easton, at 147 pounds; and Fred Braun, of Gladwyne, at 177 pounds.

Everett Adler, of West Orange, N. J., a sophomore, has added considerable strength to the team. Wrestling at 122 pounds, he won his first three matches this season. In the heavyweight division, Randall McAdams, of West Newton, Mass., shows promise but needs more experience.

The Maroon matmen will be after their fourth straight victory next Saturday when they meet Muhlenberg College at Allentown.

Mangrum Has 69 Opener In L.A. Tourney

Los Angeles, (AP)—Gallery favorite Lloyd Mangrum drummed out a 69 yesterday to whip par, oncoming darkness and the rest of the field in the first round of the $20,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Mangrum, who captured this rich inaugural event on the golfing winter trail in 1949 and 1951, poured the 7,020-yard par 35-36-71 Riviera Country Club course in 33-36-69 style to take a one stroke lead over his nearest rivals.

Darkness trapped the last three threesomes. One in the group, Al Mengert of Spokane, Wash., runner-up for the National Amateur Championship last summer, who is making his pro debut here, was even with par when he was forced to quit. He will finish his round, with the par-4 18th facing him, today.

Tied at 70 were Dr. Cary Middlecoff, 1949 National Open Champion from Memphis; Jack Burke Jr., from Houston, who tied and lost in the playoff here to Tommy Bolt last year; Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., and Leo Biagiotti, 24-year-old newcomer.

Grouped at 71 were National Open Champion Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C.; Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N. Y.; Harry Bassler, Culver City, Calif.; Ralph Evans, Riverside, Calif., and Jay Herbert, Cedarhurst, N. Y.

Steve Owen's Pass Minded South Squad Has Apparent Edge Over Brown's North

Mobile, Ala. (AP)—Steve Owen's pass-minded South squad was boosted up to an even choice with Paul Brown's North team today on the eve of the Senior Bowl all-star game tomorrow closing out the collegiate football season.

A forecast of clearing skies and reports the North running attack would be operating with less than full power caused pro scouts watching the drills to rate the game a tossup. Earlier, the North had been favored by a touchdown.

Forty-six of 1952's brighter stars close out their collegiate careers in this contest in which the players get paid for their efforts, and thereby turn pro.

In the tossing department, the South has All-America Jack Scarbath of Maryland, one of the heroes of the North-South game at Miami, and Ray Graves, the clever Texas A. & M. quarterback from the Blue-Gray contest.

Lloyd Colterlyahn, one of Scarbath's favorite targets at Maryland, will be at one end for the South, and Jack Lewis, rangy Wake Forest player, will be at the other terminal post.

Chuck Maloy of Holy Cross and southpaw Harry Agganis of Boston University give the North a pair of fine tossers. They'll be throwing to Bernie Flowers of Purdue and Ernie Stockert of UCLA.

The North running attack will be operating below par because Chuck Hren, stocky Northwestern fullback has a foot injury, and probably won't get to play.

This left Brown without a regular fullback and forces him to employ hard-running Gene Gedman, of Indiana, normally a halfback, at the fullback slot.

Favorites Are Bowl Winners; Make Millions

New York (AP)—All of the favorites won in the major football bowl games and that was probably the biggest oddity of the New Year's Day grid jamboree.

Despite the sweep by the betting choices, operators of parlay betting cards cleaned up. It took the last major game of the day to get them home, however. Southern California was a seven point favorite over Wisconsin, and, as you know that was the difference. Southern California 7 Wisconsin 0.

But whether you gave the points or took them, the result was a 7-7 tie, and on parlay cards, a tie is a loss for the bettor.

The nine bowl games in this country lured some 404,139 cash customers and about $1,857,475 at the gate. Television and radio money brought in about another $750,000. The Rose Bowl in Pasadena topped them all with a $400,000 gross gate and another $500,000 for radio and television. Figuring in programs, concessions and a few other extras, the Pasadena classic was good for one million dollars.

This ought to give you an idea of what a revived series between Army and Notre Dame would be worth.

Three major TV chains, NBC, Rose and Cotton, ABC Sugar and CBS Orange, networked the big games of the day. When the hundreds of other TV stations are formed, the bidding for the major bowl games will hit super figures.

The outstanding player of the day appeared to be Georgia Tech's Leon Hardeman. The 20-year-old Georgian is a hot runner who cuts sharper than a pirate's sword. He must of had some of the pro coaches drooling before their television sets. But the pros are going to have to wait a while. The stubby little guy has another year to go with Georgia Tech.

Ketch Wins On Handicap

Sydney, (AP)—The 38-foot Ketch Ingrid won the 680-mile Sydney-to-Hobart yacht race on handicap from the 35-foot cutter Nocturne, officials said yesterday.

Sailing time for the Ingrid was six days, 17 hours, seven minutes, and the corrected time was four days, nine hours, 56 minutes.

Doubles Race Is Tight With Excellent Scoring In Monroe League Games

Doubles matches in the Monroe County Bowling Tournament, rolled at Harmon's Recreation, produced a top score of 1,300 in the Monday and Tuesday competition.

Spaced closely under this mark were doubles teams whose handicaps were more widely spread than the net scores of the bowlers.

Some ideal examples are found in the 1,300 top doubles scores of A.

Andress and Ted Henning who used a 156 handicap and scores of 351, 358 and 435 to pick up their total.
A. Dutter and A. J. DeSanto put together 370, 368 and 384 with a 172 handicap for a 1,294 total.
Tom Sommera and Jim Harmon used a 92 handicap with games of 415, 391 and 382 to race up third high double of 1,280.

Joe Louis Will Tour Australia

New York (AP)—Joe Louis is planning to make a tour of Australia, giving boxing exhibitions.

Harry Mendel, Louis' booking agent, is working with Sam Curotta of Australia on dates for Louis in April or May. He already has tentative agreements at Auckland and Timaru in New Zealand. Timaru is the home town of the late Bob Fitzsimmons.

IT'S HERE! First Showing of the

NEW FORD TRACTOR

Golden Jubilee MODEL

- ★ MOST ADVANCED Hydraulic System in any Tractor!
- ★ EXTRA POWER with New Overhead Valve Engine!

Yes, it's on display right now, waiting to show you what a really modern tractor can and should be.

It's waiting with extra power, extra size, extra weight. It's ready to demonstrate new handling ease, comfort and convenience.

It's eagerly waiting to introduce you to the most advanced hydraulic system in any tractor. We call it Live-Action Hydraulic Control. That means split-second hydraulic response any time the tractor engine is running. Then there's a choice of hydraulic speeds when you want even faster action. It is called Hy-Trol.

This new tractor is waiting with its great new overhead valve Ford "Red Tiger" engine. With its greatly reduced piston travel, lessened friction and other advanced design features, this engine develops ample reserve power with new economy of gas and oil.

Most important of all, Ford's Golden Jubilee Model is waiting to show you what it can do—what this great combination of modern advancements and every time-proved Ford Tractor advantage means in more and better work, done more easily and more profitably.

Singles Race Produces High Scoring

Diek MacDonald, George Lee, Claude Metzgar, Bill Cooke, Don Frantz, Jess Kulp pooled out high-bracket net scores with their handicaps to place in that order in the Monroe County Bowling Tournament Singles competition at Pocono Bowling Center.

MacDonald spilled his 683 top score with a handicap of only 68. He rolled a powerful 202, 244 and slipped to 169 to rack up one of the finest singles in competition.

Lee picked up his 658 with a handicap of 90 and games of 177, 214, 189, while Metzgar fashioned his top score with games of 177, 220, 147 and a handicap of 80.

Cooke rolled a steady 180, 191 and 186 for a 557 net and handicap of 67 to bring about his score.

Kulp kept steadily in the 170's—176, 171 and 170 for a 517 and handicap of 100.

Scores follow:

Richard MacDonald	202	244	169	615
George Lee	185	214	180	568
Claude Metzgar	177	220	147	511

Suggestion Made LaMotta Retire From Fight Gam

New York City — Danny Nardico, who fights out of Tampa, and Jake LaMotta, who fights out of a crouch, met at Coral Gables, Fla. Wednesday night, and this TV kisser has the idea Jake should call the night a day.

That is, he's had it, as they say, and if the eighth-round knockout didn't convince him, the fact that he was knocked off his stout pins for the first time in his long career should.

The human machine just isn't constituted to take the savage beatings LaMotta has absorbed in the last couple of years. Even a corrugated iron, concrete reinforced machine such as that with which Jake has been blessed.

We've seen him a knockout victim three times, and each time he was seated woefully on the stool in his corner when the bout was stopped. And each time he had been practically pulverized by punches before the finish, only a stubborn pride persisted even after his record for never having been knocked off his feet had been shattered beyond repair. He weathered the round standing in a corner, virtually helpless, sometimes with his right arm stretched along the top rope, his battered, swollen face a picture of sullen, brooding challenge.

Nardico was wild in his frenzy to finish off his helpless opponent, and for that reason his blows lost some of their effectiveness. Even in his befuddled condition Jake was the instinctive fighter, bobbing and weaving and rolling with the punches.

It was bad enough, of course, but nothing compared to the merciless pounding he took from Ray Robinson in their last meeting, with the cool, calculating Sugar Ray standing off and measuring Jake and connecting solidly with all the strength at his command.

Nardico rightfully is enthused over his victory, but his enthusiasm should be tempered with reason. He was not beating THE LaMotta. As a light heavyweight, the swarthy, squat Jake is on the pud-

This Match Better Late Than Never

Richmond, Va. (AP)—George Bennett and Cliff Beasley finally squared off yesterday for the Laurel Golf Club championship. It was about time.

The tournament started last spring. Bennett and Beasley were supposed to have met for the club's spring championship in May.

"They had a little trouble getting together," said a club official.

But they eventually did. Bennett won the chilly match and the spring title, one up on the 20th hole.

Church To Buy Hymnals, Chairs

At the monthly meeting of the teachers and officers of St. John's Lutheran Church School on Wednesday night in the church school room, it was decided to purchase more tables for main school classes. The secretary was instructed to purchase additional Church School hymnals and the treasurer was authorized to forward the Christmas offering to the Tipton Lutheran Orphan Home and the German Lutheran Orphan Home.

The committee in charge of decorations for the church school and that which provided the program last Sunday night were commended for the fine work that was done. Other routine business was transacted.

Most Treasured American Documents Now Enshrined Together In Archives Hall

By H. D. Crawford
(Central Press Correspondent)
Washington—Original manuscripts of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States have been moved from their shrine in the Library of Congress and placed in a specially prepared new shrine near the original copy of the Bill of Rights in the Archives of the United States.

This brings together in the Archives Exhibit hall three documents that are closer to the hearts of Americans than any others in the nation's history. The original copy of the Bill of Rights was recently sealed in a helium-filled glass case at the Archives, and the Declaration and Constitution were similarly sealed last year at the Library of Congress to protect them from further disintegration or fading.

Many years ago the significance of these three documents was described in these words: "Three sentinels loom up through the shadows of our country's past to tell the magic story of man's achievement. The Virginia convention and Continental Congress of 1776, which gave to America and the world the Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence, and the constitutional convention of 1787, which supplied the basic law of our land."

President Herbert Hoover is credited with first suggesting the display of the three famous manuscripts at the National Archives when he laid the building's cornerstone on Feb. 20, 1933.

THE BILL OF RIGHTS now sealed in helium at the Archives was one of 14 original parchment copies. It was kept on file of the Senate while the other 13 were sent to the original states for ratification. Ten of the proposed 12 amendments were ratified on Dec. 15, 1791. They were modeled after Virginia's Declaration of Rights written by George Mason.

The engrossed Declaration of Independence was authorized by a resolution of the Continental Congress on July 19, 1776, providing that the text be written on parchment and signed by "every Member of Congress." Most members signed it on August 2.

Moving is nothing new for the Declaration of Independence and Constitution and the most recent move, down Capitol Hill from the Library of Congress to the Archives, was one of their shortest.

In its early days, the Declaration followed Congress from Philadelphia to Baltimore to Philadelphia to New York to Philadelphia to Princeton to Annapolis to Trenton, and then in 1785 back to New York.

Two years later it was joined by the new Constitution of the United States which was adopted on Sept. 17, 1787, as a result of the federal convention at Philadelphia. Both documents were transferred to the Department of State in 1789 and taken back to the temporary capital at Philadelphia. In 1800 they were brought to Washington when the United States government moved to its permanent seat.

Late in the War of 1812, when the British were marching toward Washington, the Declaration and Constitution were carried across the Potomac and hidden in a Virginia grist mill. Then they were taken to Leesburg, Va., until the danger period had passed.

THE DECLARATION was displayed in the United States Patent office from 1841 to 1876 and then was taken to Philadelphia for the Centennial exhibition, after which it was displayed in the State, War and Navy buildings at Washington. The Constitution, however, was never placed on public display while in the hands of the State department.

Both the Declaration and the Constitution were moved to the Library of Congress in 1921, and since Feb. 28, 1924, have been displayed to the public in their shrine, under constant guard. The only exception was from December, 1941 to October, 1944, when both documents were removed from the Library of Congress and placed under wartime military protection at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Concern has been felt for many years over the fading of ink and the possible disintegration of the parchment on which the manuscripts are written. The National Bureau of Standards, after 10 years of experimentation, developed a process of sealing the valuable documents in helium-filled glass cases and lighting them through special yellow filters. The inert helium protects them from disintegration and the filters prevent damage from light radiation.

The National Archives has scientifically controlled temperature and humidity throughout the year. Henceforth, American citizens can visit its beautiful Exhibit hall and see the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights knowing that these original manuscripts are preserved for posterity as securely as modern science and technology can protect the most precious symbols of American freedom and independence.

It has been learned here that Rev. James Shannon, formerly of the Hamilton Lutheran parish, now at Middleburg, had a varied holiday season. His wife presented him with a new son December 28. The Shannons also have two daughters. While Mrs. Shannon was in the hospital fire destroyed the church, December 29, endangering the adjacent parsonage as well as causing thousands of dollars loss to the church. This is the second serious fire during Rev. Shannon's preaching career, the other having occurred while he and his family were occupying a bungalow at Wier Lake, during his service here. That time they lost practically all of their personal belongings when the bungalow was destroyed during their absence from home.

Mrs. Ada Green was interred at the Bartonsville Cemetery Monday, December 30, at 2:30 p.m. having been transferred here from the Stroudsburg mausoleum. She had, for many years, attended services at both the St. John's Lutheran Church in Bartonsville and in Stroudsburg.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

SATURDAY, JAN. 3, 1953
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Happy vibrations! Full tide of day to day ahead in your specific endeavor. Take a firm grip on all important issues, problems.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Extravagance, feverish haste, carelessness in detail may be your undoing. Strive to curb them. A steady pace better than sudden starts and falls.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Slight hindrances likely in money and business matters. Bypass hazards until appropriate influences. Be diligent, observing.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—Moderately good configurations today. But don't be too optimistic. Solve problems in calm manner.

July 22 to August 21 (Leo)—Planetary aspects favorable, but you will have to be true to your fine Zodiaical characteristics. Legal pressure may present problem.

Aug. 22 to Sept. 21 (Virgo)—Keep your wits about you. Don't take outside advice without knowing all angles. Perform small duties, family wishes, etc.

Sept. 22 to Oct. 21 (Libra)—Day's outlook generous. Many good prospects in business, professional and personal affairs. Select important activities carefully.

Oct. 22 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio)—Vigilant mood. Be especially astute with money, property, valuables. The keener your executive matters, the better.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—Strive to open new projects that will enhance possibilities. Don't worry about little setbacks; often they sharpen our wits.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 21 (Capricorn)—Tread upward, especially favorable for matters close to home, family affairs. Medical experiments, legal and business problems have fresh impetus.

Jan. 22 to Feb. 21 (Aquarius)—Take care in travel, undertakings entailing personal risk. Things dangerous. P. M. opens wider personal and social horizons.

Feb. 22 to March 21 (Pisces)—The charm and tact with which you carry through the day will determine extent of possible gains. These times need extreme restraint on forceful, irritating words.

U. S. Steel Executive To Speak Here

The Industrial Management Club will meet at the Elks Club, East Stroudsburg, Tuesday, Jan. 6, at 6:30 p.m. The speaker will be John J. Appleyard, public relations director for the United States Steel Co., Fairless Works, Morrisville, Pa.

Mr. Appleyard is a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., and received his formal education at Howe Military School, Howe, Ind., later attending the Ottawa High School and Grand Rapids Junior College.

He served as apprentice for reporter on the Grand Rapids Herald and later joined the journalistic staff of the High Point, N. C., Enterprise. He was made news editor in 1933 and a year later editor and editorial writer.

The newspaper man became associated with Paul May, Washington news correspondent, and covered the U. S. Senate for more than 200 newspapers in 1937. He entered the employ of the Washington Post in 1940 and two years later joined the U. S. Steel's Washington district public relations staff.

Mr. Appleyard transferred to the office of J. Carlisle MacDonald, assistant to chairman in New York in January, 1946. In 1948 he assumed from Mr. MacDonald handling of corporation public relations affairs for New York City and in June, 1951, he transferred to Morrisville, where he is presently located.

Plane Crashes In Desert; 66 Rescued

Washington, AP—The Air Force yesterday reported the rescue of 66 passengers and 10 crewmen of a Dutch C54 KLM airliner which crashed landed in the desert 20 miles north of the Dhahran airbase in Saudi Arabia Thursday night.

Rescue teams were sent by plane and auto from Dhahran immediately after the pilot radioed that he was running low on fuel and would attempt a crash landing. A search plane found the wreckage at once, and paratroopers jumped to the scene of the landing. They radioed back for a helicopter which brought a flight surgeon to the scene.

None of the passengers or crew of the Dutch airliner was injured. The group was returned to Dhahran in automobiles.

Truman Asks Tax Cut For Ike, Nixon

Washington, AP—President Truman yesterday asked Congress to give President-elect Eisenhower permission to begin deducting living expenses from his taxable income immediately.

The President also asked that both Vice President-elect Nixon and Speaker-designate Martin of the House be permitted to deduct living expenses from their taxable incomes.

Truman addressed his requests, his most generous action yet toward the victorious Republicans, to the ranking Democrats and Republicans on the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee.

In a letter to Senators George (D-Ga.) and Millikin (R-Colo.) and Representatives Cooper (D-Tenn.) and Reed (R-N.Y.), the President reminded them:

"So far as the President is concerned, the Constitution requires that any corrective action must be taken prior to Jan. 20 (when Eisenhower takes office)."

The President now receives a salary of $100,000 and a tax-free expense allowance of $50,000. Under this arrangement, Truman said, a president with no dependents other than his wife now has a maximum tax liability of more than $56,000, or better than one-third of his total compensation.

The vice president and the speaker have salaries of $30,000 and $10,000 tax-free allowances, putting their income tax liability at more than $9,400, or almost one-fourth of their total compensation.

Carpenter Slays Sailor Who Took Daughter Home

San Diego, Calif., AP—Police reported that W. L. Etchison, 47, a carpenter, Thursday night shot and killed one of six Navy sailors his daughter had brought home with her mother's approval.

Dead from a shotgun charge in the chest was Lester Dale Schoonover, 21, of the U. S. landing ship Cabildo.

Etchison was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder.

The police report said the 15-year-old daughter had gone to a movie with one of the sailors and that five of his shipmates had accompanied them home and were invited to stay and watch television by Mrs. Elizabeth Etchison.

Etchison, the report added, ordered them to leave and, when they failed to do so, got the gun and shot Schoonover.

300 Couples Licensed To Wed In 1952

The number of marriage licenses issued in Monroe County during the year 1952 far outstripped the total divorces granted by the court.

James Godd, prothonotary, reported that 300 marriage licenses were issued during the year just closed as compared with 50 divorces. At that, 18 fewer licenses to marry were granted as compared with 1951.

The register and recorder's office was kept quite busy during the past year, according to Floyd Butz, register and recorder. During that period, 1,827 deeds, mortgages and miscellaneous papers were filed. In addition, 51 administrative papers and 86 testamentary forms were processed in the office, Butz said.

There were 5,188 dog licenses issued at the office of P. A. Rockefeller, county treasurer, during 1952. There were also 1,100 resident fishing licenses and 150 non-resident fishing licenses and 500 five-day tourist fishing licenses sold at the office, Rockefeller said.

The county treasurer also reported a total of 5,150 hunting licenses issued, of which number 381 were for non-resident hunters.
